Re: Veronica Maddy v. Great Clips, Inc., Civ. No. 1:22-cv-05843

Dear Judge Schofield:

We write on behalf of Defendant Great Clips, Inc. to request an adjournment of the telephonic conference currently scheduled for September 14, 2022 and the corresponding September 7, 2022 deadline to submit a joint letter and Proposed Civil Case Management Plan and Scheduling Order. Defendant's counsel have attempted to confer with Plaintiff's counsel regarding the conference and joint letter but have received an automatic email response that Plaintiff's counsel is away through September 5, 2022 and is unable to return emails and calls during this time. A brief extension is therefore necessary to allow the parties to confer about these issues. Additionally, the parties expect to continue to explore the possibility of resolving this dispute without further litigation. Defendant therefore respectfully requests that the telephonic conference be adjourned until October 30, 2022, or such other time as convenient for the Court. Defendant further respectfully requests that the deadline to submit a joint letter and Proposed Civil Case Management Plan and Scheduling Order be adjourned until one week prior to the rescheduled telephonic conference. No prior extensions have been requested. Defendant has been unable to reach Plaintiff's counsel to ascertain whether Plaintiff objects to this request.

Thank you for your consideration of this matter.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Andrew L. Van Houter
